LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

1975 saw a slight decrease in our circulation, although the Library was used a good deal by students for reference and for home work. This year our reference collection was expanded due to a gift of some fine reference works by Mr. Keith McKenna, a summer resident of Gilsum.

Borrower's cards issued in 1975 included 140 adult and 68 juvenile for a total of 208 cards altogether. The circulation figure for the year was 4,587; 2,333 fiction and 2,254 non-fiction which included 402 magazines, 229 slides and films, 44 records, and 4 jig-saw puzzles.

The Library borrowed 3,766 books from the State Bookmobile which made 4 visits this year, while many special requests were obtained by mail from the New Hampshire State Library. The Keene Public Library too, supplied us with numerous special requests, plus films, and block loans of from 30 to 40 mystery books every few months, for a total of 333 books, and 168 AV materials.

The Ward Cooley Memorial Fund was established this year at the Library by Mr. and Mrs. Keith McKenna, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cooley, parents of this 7-year old boy whose sad death occurred this year. The Cooley family has a summer home in Gilsum Woods, and the boy used to visit the Library whenever they were in town. The Fund has already received contributions of several hundred dollars and quite a few books. It is to be used for a collection of children's books and other materials covering mainly scientific and nature subjects, which would include books on minerals, animals, birds, etc., as all of these were of great interest to the boy.

The collection has been started with some National Geographic books on these subjects, and we have also purchased sets of color slides on wildflowers, birds, insects, animals, etc. which may circulate. Two slide viewers are available for borrowing with the slides.

The Fund is still open for contributions.

Our book cataloguing is progressing well, and we now plan to have book cards in all our books. This changeover will be gradual, but it will eventually make our charging system more efficient.

The Gilsum Nursery School children with their teacher have been attending a Story Hour held for them at the Library every other Wednesday morning at 10:30. Mrs. Harriet Commass, one of our Trustees, and a former teacher herself, is in charge of the hour, and the children love it!

During the treacherous weather this winter, the attendance at the Library was light. We're trusting that with milder weather, more Gilsum residents will take advantage of the Library's resources. Even for those who don't wish to borrow books, it's a nice cozy place to settle down and read, or listen to records, or to just read the newspaper. We have the Christian Science Monitor, New Hampshire Times, Keene Shopper, New York Times Book Review, and numerous magazines.

Our book collection is varied. Along with the fairly recent books, we have still held on to some of the older authors. Many libraries today have had to remove these authors from their collection to make more room on their shelves for the newer acquisitions. Among the well-loved authors still to be found on our shelves, to mention just a few, are: Joseph C. Lincoln, Grace Livingston Hill, Miss Mulock, Ernest Seton, Booth Tarkington, Kathleen Norris, Jack London, Zane Grey, etc.

Do come in. This is your Library.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES REPORT

The Gilsum Public Library earned accreditation from the New Hampshire State Library in 1975 for the first time in its history. Accreditation was finally possible because the new library building met all of the state's requirements for a public library and because during 1975 the library was open for the full 600 hours required for a library in a town the size of Gilsum.

A number of finishing touches were made on the library and grounds during the year. Because of a generous donation from Albert F. Hall, father of the late F. Sumner Hall, donor of the land on which the library is built, four trees were planted in front of the building: two sugar maples, one linden and a flowering crab. The library's Memorial Fund made possible the purchase of an antique display case for the entrance hall, the painting of an attractive sign which was hung near the road, and the planting of twenty pounds of spring flower bulbs.

The library was most fortunate in receiving generous donations throughout the year which were used for the purchase of books and for periodical subscriptions not included in our budget. The Ward A. Cooley Memorial Fund, established in the memory of the young son of Mr. & Mrs. Arthur Cooley of the Gilsum Woods, has already made possible the purchase of many nationally recommended children's books not previously in our collection, plus a series of nature slides and a viewer with which to see them. Funds from the F. Sumner Hall Memorial Fund were used to purchase a stereo phonograph.

A Fall highlight at the library was the showing by Dr. Arnold Modell of his slides taken on a recent trip to Africa. The trustees are pleased to make the library available for events such as this and hope to see it more and more a center of community activities.

We wish to say thank you to Marion Hall and Trudi Oesch for their contributions to the library during the past year; as always, their interest and efforts far exceeded the definition of their job. A special word of thanks to Harriet Commoss and Joan Miller for the time they gave to work in the library during the summer and fall.

Don't forget: not only are all the books in the Gilsum library at your disposal, but also all of the books in the New Hampshire State Library. If you are looking for a particular book, Marion Hall can get it from the state library within a few days. Library hours in 1976 will continue to be: Monday and Wednesday afternoons, 1:30 to 4:30; Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7:00 to 9:00; and Saturdays, 10 to noon.

The Community Ambulance Services, Inc. has just found it necessary to purchase a new Motorola radio, priced at $1,660.00, which will increase our capabilities and efficiency. To date this new radio has not been paid for.

Also included in expenses for 1976 was a new beacon light for the top of the ambulance, and part of a new heating system was just installed.
